

Create a poster to let people know about the dangers to national parks in North America. Use your Reading Notes and additional research to help you. Your poster can be about any endangered national park in the United States or Canada. Plan your poster here. It should contain these things:

- an attention-grabbing title (5 points)
- the name of the park (5 points)
- three reasons the park is in danger (30 points)
- an illustration of one way the park is in danger (20 points)
- two things people can do to help protect the park (20 points)

Make your poster on a large sheet of paper. At the bottom of your poster, list at least three sources you used to gather information, such as encyclopedias or Web sites. (15 points)
